

1. The Borneo Post, UPM Bintulu to host 'Towards a Culture of Sustainability in Borneo' international conference

UPM Bintulu to host 'Towards a Culture of Sustainability in Borneo' international conference

BINTULU: Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM) Bintulu will be hosting the 3rd International Conference on Science, Social Sciences & Humanities this Sept 26 and Sept 27.

The two-day event, themed 'Towards a Culture of Sustainability in Borneo' will take place at Pullman Waterfront Hotel in Miri.

With sub-themes in science and mathematics, engineering and technology, humanities, culture and arts, and business, economics and management; this conference promises to be a unique and comprehensive event, spanning across multiple disciplines.

There will be engaging presentations, thought-provoking discussions and networking opportunities with fellow professionals in the fields.

The conference will act as a platform for participants to meet and collaborate with other participants from diverse backgrounds, including researchers, academics, postgraduate students, government agencies, and policymakers.

Submission for three presentation formats namely oral, poster or virtual and abstracts proposal are accepted in either English or Bahasa Malaysia. The deadline for full paper submission is July 31.

For more information and to register, visit <http://icossh.upm.edu.my/>.

2. Sarawak Tribute, UPM Bintulu to host global conference

UPM Bintulu to host global conference

BINTULU: Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM) Bintulu Campus will host the Third International Conference on Science, Social Sciences and Humanities on September 26 and 27.

The two-day event themed “Towards Cultural Sustainability in Borneo” will take place at the Pullman Hotel, Miri.

With sub-themes in science and mathematics, engineering and technology, humanities, culture and art, economics and business management, the conference promises to be a unique and comprehensive event, spanning multiple disciplines. There will be interesting presentations, thought-provoking discussions and networking opportunities with fellow professionals in the field.

The conference will act as a platform for participants to meet and collaborate with others.